Samuel Chase, M.D.

Friday 9:45 AM – 11:15 AM

February 3rd, 2017 to March 24th, 2016

In this seminar a careful reading of Freud's major writings from the Structural Theory to later in his career will examine the shift from the Topographic Model to the Structural Model with the profound impacts on psychoanalytic theory and technique that resulted from this shift. Then we will spend a couple weeks reading later Freud so see where he went after 1923 with his theory of the mind.

This reading will provide a basis for discussion of how these developments in Freud's thinking led to contemporary Freudian theory, as well as to the issues that resulted in the branching off of other theoretical models, such as Kleinian, object relations and relational.
