

Course Objectives

Introduction to the Work of Hans Loewald

Lee Grossman, M.D.

Fall 2018 – Winter 2019

After completing this course, candidates should:

1. Be able to see how Loewald's theories grow from and depart from Freud.
2. Be able to consider development, including psychic change in therapy, as a process of differentiation and integration.
3. Be able to see some clinical implications of Loewald's emphasis on the role of internalization processes vs. defensive processes.